Senior Vice President & Chief Development Officer, Beaumont Health, President, Beaumont Health Foundation

Beaumont

Margaret Cooney Casey is senior vice president and chief development officer at Beaumont Health, Michigan's largest health care system, based on inpatient admissions and net patient revenue. Casey joined Beaumont in 2014 from Beaumont Health System and continues to serve as president of the system-wide Beaumont Health Foundation. Since joining the organization in 2000, revenue generated by the Foundation for the benefit of the Beaumont Health System totaled more than $450 million. Prior to Beaumont, Casey served as vice president of development for the St. Joseph Mercy Health System in Ann Arbor, where she managed fund development programs for three hospitals and two major ambulatory facilities. Casey also served as vice president of marketing and public affairs during her tenure with Mercy. Her earlier development experience includes positions with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the University of Detroit Mercy.

Casey has served on the boards of many area nonprofits and has held several leadership positions in the Association for Healthcare Philanthropy. She is also a member of the National Society of Fund Raising Executives, a board member of the Health Management Academy and the Mercy Education Project, and a trustee of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. She also served as co-chair of the senior advisory council for the Michigan Chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals for over 10 years.

Casey received the Spirit of Entrepreneurship Award within the 2013 Entrepreneur of the Year Awards presented by Ernst & Young; the Dr. J. S. Lore Outstanding Fundraising Executive for 2013, presented by the American Fundraising Professionals; and the 2015 Distinguished Women's Award from Northwood University.

She earned her master's degree from Oakland University and her bachelor's degree from Marygrove College.
